

Case Study/

Fabrick Housing Group | Phase 2

Customer/

Fabrick Housing Group are a major registered social housing provider, Fabrick is a significant company operating in the North East and Teeside and has an ethos based on quality of service, efficiency and social responsibility.

Having successfully completed a previous office move to a very high standard, Fabrick Group chose to partner Godfrey Syrett and Xsite Architecture for the refurbishment of their Customer Service Centre at Rivers House. Godfrey Syrett were able to provide furniture solutions which matched the vision of Xsite Architecture's concept for the building.

Challenge/

One of the most important things to Fabrick Group was the fact we were able to offer a cost effective design solution using materials sourced locally whilst offering a contemporary, themed design for the project.

The design focus on this project was the River Tees- the layout and furniture provides the story of the river flowing from the source to the mouth and the journey in between. Visuals have been used to update the existing wall storage depicting local landmarks such as the transporter bridge and local viewpoints which are photographs taken by staff entered into a competition.
