Kaydee System 3300 cassetted awning

With all-round protection when stowed, this rugged cassette awning is made from a one-piece extrusion that is coupled to a tilt device that enables it to fold to give perfect weather protection when not in use. A large diameter (85mm) roller gives great rigidity across the whole awning width and the patented tilt device gives great stability in strong winds. With inbuilt gutter system, the Kaydee 3300 is available in widths up to 7 metres and projection up to 21 metres.

Kaydee System 915 cassetted awning

Here is a really compact, graceful awning that is perfect where space is at a premium – for example for fitment under low soffits or for use on bungalows. Thanks to its inherent strength, no centre support is needed - only end fixing brackets are required on models up to 6 metres in length. The easy-to-set roof pitch adjustment is infinitely variable up to 35 degrees.

Kaydee System 5005 cassetted awning

The compact cassette of the Kaydee 5005 conceals great strength real grace – with a contemporary 'rounded' profile. The awning itself can be provided in lengths of up to 7 metres – or in multiples of up to three units – and a projection of up to 4 metres. In a neat arrangement, the front profile features an integrated gutter and concealed water drainage system.

Kaydee System 1300 cassetted awning

Simple in concept, yet remarkable in the standards that it delivers. Like all models in the Kaydee range, the 1300 has the inherent strength and stability of an 85mm diameter roller. This gives you industry-leading strength and lateral stability in inclement weather. Thanks to special folding arm technology, this model can also be supplied with a greater length than width.

Kaydee System 1500/1550 semi-cassetted awning

With a host of features, these award-winning awnings differ only in that the 1550 model has integrated lighting. Although of semi-cassette design, the closed awning actually gives you the appearance of a full cassette – thanks to its unique, curved coverboard. During retraction, a specially integrated brush sweeps the awning for fallen leaves. It can be supplied in widths of up to 6.6 metres with 3 metres projection, or 6.1 metres wide with 3.5 metres projection. They can be coupled together to give a width of 13.1 metres.

Kaydee 300 series drop-arm cassette awnings

This unique range of attractive and very sturdy window blinds provide sun and weather protection from the outside.

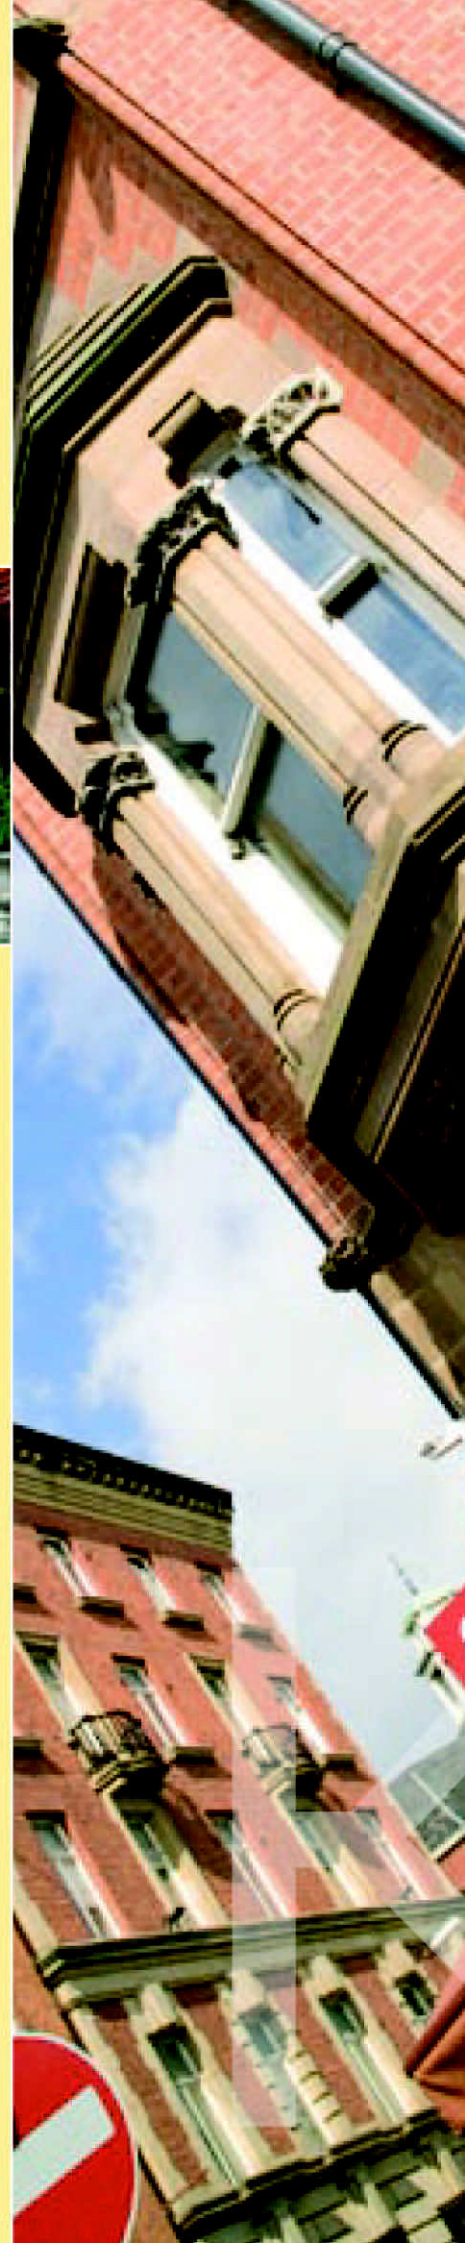

Choose from three models in the series:

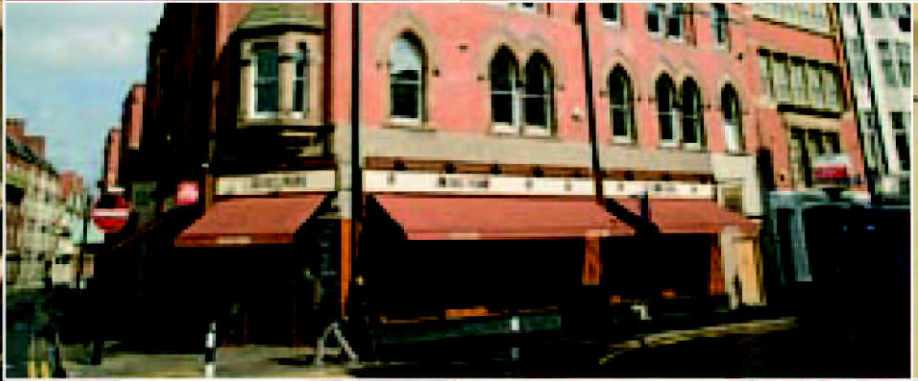

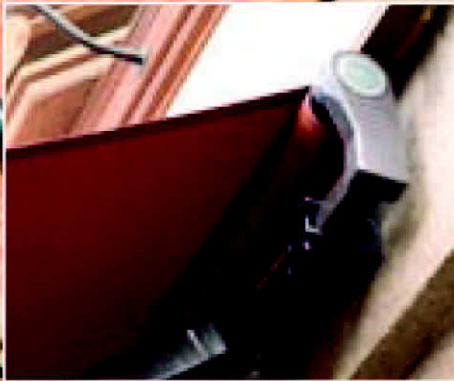

Kaydee 300 with internally-sprung arms, the Kaydee 320 powered by gas piston arms for extra tension and the Kaydee 330 with autolift arms that provide greater walk-under height.

Commercial awnings

Unsurprisingly, the great strength, durability, attractiveness and safety of Kaydee awnings is much valued by commercial users who are seeking to make more use of their outside space. Such users range from bistros to shops and from restaurants to local utilities.

For such requirements, which are generally larger installations, many of the awnings in our range can be supplied in multiple units and with motorised operation.

DEE

Quality retractable awnings - the perfect finishing touch with quality to match

If you thought that all awnings were much the same, take a closer look at the way Kaydee experience and technology have been brought together to provide innovation, design excellence and superb protection against the elements.

All arms and moving joints are made from drop forgings or extruded aluminium. Screws and other fittings are similarly corrosion-resistant

- and arms are seated in Teflon-coated brushes that require virtually zero maintenance. Rollers are of 85mm diameter – greater than most others and giving correspondingly greater torsional strength.

On models that use gas-piston technology, this does more than add to structural rigidity. It keeps the awning cover taught when only partially extended. Contrast this to conventional systems that have to be fully extended to prevent the elbow joints from collapsing under pressure from wind gusts.
