Window Film by Kaydee – why do we need window film?

Exceptional performance

Window films are thin, multi-layered optically clear films that can be retro-fitted to the surface of glass. These films are mainly sputter-coated with a durable range of metals such as titanium, stainless steel, copper, gold, silver, inconel, chromium, aluminium and other alloys. The varying combinations of metals is what gives the film its exceptional performance capabilities and colour.

Protection from damage

Our films are protected with scratch resistant coatings, inspected using state-of-the-art equipment and put through some of the most stringent endurance tests, leaving you with the highest quality window film possible for your building.

Endurance – no problem

Choose Kaydee and feel confident you have selected a product that will endure the elements and perform to your satisfaction. Gives glass properties it currently does not have!

Window Film by Kaydee – what is it all about?

Glass has become a major feature of building design in recent years. However, glass can bring certain problems:

An increased amount of solar heat enters a building. This often results in discomfort and the need for mechanical cooling, which is costly both financially and environmentally.

Glass is aesthetically pleasing but becomes a safety threat when shattered.

Glass cannot provide privacy, without losing light or visibility.

Solar glare is a problem, especially for screen users.
