Prefabricated Protan details provide the perfect job-enhancing and time-saving solution

There are a variety of prefabricated details available from Protan, including details for corners, pipes, roof-light up-stands, plus many more.

The benefit of prefabricated details is that they arrive on site preformed and ready for use. They offer a significant time saving, as the contractor will not have to spend time forming the details themselves.

The details will also improve the look of the roof once it is finished, as the details are of a uniform size, which results in consistency.

The details are manufactured from Protan G membrane and provide the perfect solution for any application.

The details are available in a variety of sizes and are subject to minimum order quantities.
