grid mounting outlets

▶ A new range of grid mounted data, media and USB charging outlets designed to match with our electrical accessories to produce a contemporary, premium and unified look and feel.

data and media outlets

- Constant and rapid technological advancements have meant an increase in the numbers and types of outlets required in homes, offices and hotels. Our new range of grid mounted data, media, audio and USB units has been designed to reduce the need for a multitude of different outlets and can also be matched with all other electrical accessory plates in the property to produce a modern, premium and Coordinated finish.

► Our new grid mounted data, media, audio and USB outlets can be used with our Series 2, Series 3, Penthouse and decorative ranges of wiring accessory plates and can be specified to contain single or multiple outlets depending upon requirement. Rather than having a variety of different wall plates for each outlet, multiple data and media outlets can be grouped together in one convenient plate, reducing the likelihood that an unsightly jumble of wires and cables will be left on display – particularly useful when it comes to entertainment systems.

This innovative range has been cleverly designed to allow bespoke outlet arrangement without the need for a specially designed custom unit. For example Data and BT or Co Axial and Satellite outlets can be matched together using our existing grids* and switch plates.

single or twin USB socket units

Designed with modern lifestyle accessories in mind

► Available in the Series 2 range these single or twin USB units allow the charging of USB devices from a single wall mounted accessory plate which also contains a standard three pin plug socket and have been created in response to ever growing consumer requirements.

The fast pace of modern life as well as constantly evolving technology means that consumer needs are continually changing; the advent of smart phones, tablets and many other similar devices has created a demand for charging points within homes, business premises and hotels. Our new single and twin USB socket outlets are designed to provide a stylish, contemporary, high end response to these needs, offering practicality as well as a unified look and feel throughout.

USB charging outlets are supplied in either black or white to complement the finish of the chosen plate.
